

Mayor's Message - Kurt Ostler

Over the past couple of months, I've visited with several residents who came to the City with legitimate concerns—issues such as property damage, crime, or persistent code violations in their neighborhoods. In each case, these individuals began as victims or concerned citizens simply trying to do the right thing. Unfortunately, however, some of these situations escalated in ways that ultimately required police involvement—and in a few cases, the roles became reversed, with the original complainant becoming the one in trouble.

I understand how frustrating it can be when problems linger without resolution. When you feel unheard or when issues drag on for weeks or months, emotions can understandably boil over. And yet, how we respond matters just as much—if not more—than the problem itself.

In each of these visits, I felt the sincerity and goodness in the hearts of our residents. Their frustrations were real, and their concerns were valid. That's why I want to share a few reminders that may help guide our actions if you ever find yourself in a similar situation:

Code Compliance Issue:

- Document everything: Take photos and note dates, times, and how often the issue occurs.
- Call our Code Compliance Office: Once reported, be patient. Some violations take time to resolve—especially when the city is working with individuals on improvement plans.
- Avoid confrontation: Let the process work. We aim for resolution, not retaliation.

If You Believe a Crime Has Been Committed:

- Contact the police immediately: Let law enforcement evaluate the situation and determine the appropriate response.
- Don't take justice into your own hands: Escalation rarely leads to resolution and can complicate your ability to get help.
- Remember: Seek justice, not revenge.

We are a strong and caring community. I've seen firsthand the patience, concern, and commitment of Highland's residents. My request is simple: when emotions run high, take a breath. Take a step back. Let us help.

Together, we can address the issues—safely, respectfully, and with dignity.

Water Conservation Notice

This past winter did not deliver the snowpack we had hoped for, and as a result, the City's pressurized irrigation (PI) system is already nearing capacity—well before the hottest weeks of the year.

Conservation efforts in 2021 and 2022 were highly effective, but water use increased by 20% in 2024 following the end of the drought. To avoid exceeding system capacity, the City is asking all residents to use their sprinkler systems wisely and avoid overwatering.

Recently installed water meters are a valuable tool for monitoring usage. If you haven't yet accessed your water use portal, visit <https://www.highlandpimeters.com> to sign up for an account.

A 20% reduction in use is the goal. Achieving this will help the PI system operate more efficiently, maintain proper pressure, and preserve water in reservoirs for later in the season.

If you notice brown spots or dry areas in your yard, try cleaning your sprinkler filter or spot-watering those areas instead of running a full sprinkler cycle.

Thank you for doing your part to conserve water!

Firework Restrictions

For the month of July, state law allows fireworks to be shot from July 2nd to July 5th and July 22nd to July 25th from 11:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. except on July 4th and July 24th where hours extend to midnight.

Due to fire danger, fireworks are prohibited in certain areas of Highland including many subdivisions.

A map of these restrictions is available at bit.ly/HC-fireworkrestrictions.

Summer Construction

As the City works to complete improvements along 6000 West Street, there will be temporary detours along the Murdock Canal from June 30th through August 1st. Please be on the lookout for the detour routes and plan accordingly. Thank you!

As part of the Safe Routes to School program, Highland City will be working with UDOT to install sidewalk along the west side of 6000 West between Chapel Drive and Highland Elementary. The project is expected to take place this summer and will provide a much-needed safe pedestrian pathway.

TABLE Definitions

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Action Level (AL): The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Low Number - High Number - lowest and highest level of contamination measured between all system water sources.

ppm - parts per million or milligrams per liter (mg/l) which ratio is equal to one dollar in $1,000,000.00

ppb - parts per billion or micrograms per liter (ug/l) which ratio is equal to one dollar in $1,000,000,000.00 pc/L - picocuries per liter is a measure of the radioactivity in water.

NTU - Nephelometric Turbidity Unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

90th percentiles - 90 % of the samples were at or below this value. EPA considers the 90th percentile value the same as an "average" value for other contaminants.

Our drinking water distribution system has many connections. Concerns for adverse effects to the system are minimal when those connections are properly installed and maintained. The supply and the quality of drinking water may be affected if connections are made to the system that are unapproved or improperly installed; otherwise referred to as a cross connection. Cross connections can allow contaminated water or chemicals to interperse into the drinking water supply if the connection is not properly protected. Improper connections not only compromise the drinking water quality but can also affect you and your family's health.

What can be done by you, our customer, to alleviate this problem? Do not make or allow improper or unapproved connections at your homes. Did you know that a garden hose in a watering trough or pool is a cross connection and so is a swimming pool or spa with an autofill line. Both require a certain type of backflow assembly to protect against a potential backflow event. If you have a swimming pool or hot tub please follow the survey. Determine and avoid all possible ways harmful substances could find a route to your drinking water; cross connection allowed at your home will affect you and your family first. If you'd like to learn more about helping to protect the quality of our drinking water, call us for further information about ways you can help.

CROSS Connection

DETERMINATION OF CONTAMINANT Levels

The state and federal government imposes the highest level of concern for the quality of drinking water, and has set the MCLs at very strict levels. To illustrate the possible health effects, a person would have to drink over 2 quarts of water with the contaminant at the MCL level every day of their life to have a 0.00001% chance of having the described health effect. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some constituents. It's important to remember that the presence of these impurities do not necessarily pose a health risk. Should there be a concern for your safety, we will contact you and let you know the appropriate action to take to continue to have safe drinking water.

Customer SERVICE

In addition to the constituents listed in the table to the above, we also test for over 65 others. NON WERE DETECTED
