OCTOBER 2012

MAYOR'S CORNER

October is deer hunt month – right? Well, just in the mountains, not in Highland City yet. We have had an overwhelming interest in our City Ordinance passed by the City Council to allow archery hunting within the City limits. Let me answer a few questions that have been generated.

We have been working with the Department of Wildlife Resources (DWR) this past year to develop a deer management program. The DWR has developed a draft agreement with the City to allow management of the urban deer population within city borders. The program is still in the preliminary stage and requires State approvals, but the State is very supportive and we anticipate approval soon.

Why are we doing this? Residents have begged the City to do something because deer are destroying trees, shrubs, gardens, landscaping, and create a road safety hazard. Some have said that we are in the deer territory and they were here first. This is somewhat true, however, a few years ago with the bad winter; deer came from their territory to the City for food. The problem came when they did not go back to the mountains; rather, they had their young and stayed in our yards. We need to manage the herd just as the DWR does in the mountains. We will always have some deer in the City but we need to thin the overpopulation that has occurred.

Is it safe to allow a hunt? The answer is yes. Everyone will not be allowed to get a bow and just start shooting. The City program will certify hunters, so only 'expert archers' will be allowed to harvest the deer. The hunter is required to hunt from a raised stand so they will always be shooting downward. They will be required to get permission from any landowner where they may traverse or hunt. If a landowner does not want them on their property they can withhold permission. The hunt will go from August 1st to October 31st annually. As deer are harvested the archer will own the animal and can either take it and utilize the meat or donate it to the State or local food shelter to feed those in need.

With only a month to go this year, we believe we are looking at next year to start the program. We believe the concept is sound and will work to solve the problem. This is done successfully in other states and we believe it will be successful here. We will publish more details as we develop the certification program, get DWR approvals, outline areas to start, and other administrative details. Many residents have expressed support for this program and we look forward to beginning. Some have said they do not want their property encroached. Rest assured we will honor that request. We hope all can see the value in a program to control overpopulation of the urban deer population problem within the City borders.
